With respect to independent claim 74, the prior art of record fails to anticipate or render obvious the claimed combination of a service providing system, including: a portable terminal holding first network identifier; a first server for managing personal information of a user identified by said first network identifier;

a second server for executing processing identified by second network identifier; and first service terminal holding second network identifier, wherein said portable terminal, said first server, said second server, and said first service terminal are connected via a network; said portable terminal comprising: storing mean for storing said first network identifier; first obtaining means for obtaining, from said first service terminal, said second network identifier and access information for detecting access patterns; second obtaining means for obtaining verification data necessary for verification of said user; and first supplying means for supplying control information containing said first network identifier, said second network identifier, and said access information to said first server which manages said personal information identified by said first network identifier stored in said storing medium, so as to be provided with predetermined services, by processing identified by said second network identifier obtained by said first obtaining means being executed by said second server, said first service terminal comprising: first holding means for holding said second network identifier; second obtaining means for obtaining said access information from accesses to itself by said first obtaining means of said portable terminal; second supplying means for supplying said second network identifier and said access information to said portable terminal, so as to be obtained by said first obtaining means of said portable terminal; and third supplying means for supplying said control information supplied by said first supplying means of said portable terminal, to said first server said first server comprising: first managing means for managing said personal information identified by said first network identifier; first requesting means for requesting to be provided with said services based on said control information, said personal information, and said access information, to said second server for executing processing identified by said second network identifier contained in said control information supplied by said second supplying means of said portable terminal; and first verification means for making verification of said user based on said verification data obtained by said second obtaining means of said portable terminal, based on a request from said second server: and said second server comprising: second managing means for managing processing identified by said second network identifier, and executing means for executing, based on said control information said personal information, and said access information, processing identified by said second network identifier, based on requests from said first requesting means of said first server in the manner and complexity explicitly recited in the claims of the invention.
